

February 2009

I thought this as good a time as any to provide an update on thegiveshirt.com. Why? Because probably the most exciting development to date occurred this morning - I received confirmation for an order of 750 give shirts for a youth social justice rally in Canada! And they found out about the give shirt via CTV news Edmonton - I have no idea how!

I'm also working with a cafe in Florida which is interested in selling the give shirt, and Bernie Salazar (the at home winner of the TV show "The Biggest Loser") regarding the give shirt's potential! Last month the give shirt was worn throughout Alaska as I experienced a great deal of giving on my unique adventure. And the last give shirt purchased was the result of the proud new owner seeing her friend, yet again, wearing his! So please continue wearing the give shirt often, and referring anyone interested to me and/or thegiveshirt.com (which I am still seeking help revising...)!

As always:

I am open to, and looking for, any ideas – so as you have them, please share!

Thank you so much for helping to make this project a success!

give,

Thomas
